Introduction

This unit has been planned to help trainers in evaluating the courses they have given. The general idea is that trainers should have some flexibility in applying different evaluation instruments, depending on what they feel is appropriate in a given situation. The unit provides two power point presentations (a long and a short version) for choice.

The unit ends with the evaluation of the overall META Europe Training Course. A questionnaire for course participants is provided.

Objectives

- To understand the need and rationale for evaluation

- To be introduced to different types of evaluation

- To gain an overview of different methods and instruments

- To be able to identify different contexts in which particular instruments are appropriate
