

HANDOUT 3 QUESTIONNAIRE WITH OPEN ENDED QUESTIONS

Introduction

This questionnaire is to be administered after the course. It uses open-ended questions, meaning that the evaluator has not provided pre-designed answers. This allows for true answers that are genuinely those of participants. However, the drawback to this type of questioning is that when participants do not mention a specific topic, it does not automatically mean they do not have an opinion on it. The questionnaire was originally designed for a radio course for women. It needs to be adjusted to suit the target group of a specific training course.

1. What part of the course did you find different?
○ ...
2. In what ways did this 'difference' help your own learning and development?
○ ...
3. Identify 2-3 aspects of the course which you feel will enable you to participate in radio work in the future.
○ ...
4. Has the discussion about 'women's radio' changed your views on your position as a woman in society? If so, in what ways?
○ ...
5. What do you think are the barriers to women working in radio?
○ ...
6. What are the five main things you have learned from the course?
○ ...
7. What were the main aspects of the course that were least useful?
○ ...
8. What particular suggestions have you made for changes in the design of the course? What response has there been from the organizers?
○ ...
9. What, if anything, has inspired you about the training?
○ ...
10. This time next year, where do you imagine you will be in terms of employment generally or radio work specifically?
○ ...
11. What help do you think you will need to achieve that?
○ ...
12. Please note any other comments.