

What skills are useful if you want to train within a community radio setting?

- Interest in and capacity for working with different people and target groups
- Knowledge about and experience with group dynamics / working successfully within groups
- Knowledge about and experience with different ways and methods of teaching and learning
- Specialist knowledge within the wide field of radio production or broadcast journalism
- You may not possess all these-some of the best training is done collaboratively!

